Chapter 1: How You Approach Life and How You Appear To Others

Cancer Rising:

You appear gentle, and perhaps rather reserved with others until you feel it is safe to be open with them. Your strong need for emotional security and a sense of belonging makes you deeply attached to your roots, family, cherished friends, familiar places, etc., so that making radical changes or moves away from what is known and safe can be quite difficult. Having a home, a safe haven, is very important.

You approach life subjectively, sensitive to the emotional atmosphere, and subtle undercurrents of feeling in and around you. Instinctive and nonrational, you are often unable to give a clear, simple explanation for your actions. Something FEELS right, or it doesn't. You never forget either kindness or unkindness shown to you.

Emotions and personal loyalties tend to color your thoughts and opinions, as you view life from a very personal perspective and often cannot mentally detach yourself from your own bias or prejudices. You are apt to be concerned primarily with how something affects you and those close to you, rather than with the principle or the broader social implications.

Tenaciously loyal, protective, and supportive of those you care about, you have a strong nurturing nature. You are able to empathize with others and intuitively sense their feelings and needs. Compassionate and sympathetic, you are easily moved by others' pain, and therefore often the one others seek out when they need comfort, reassurance, or help.

Fluctuating moods that change frequently mean that you are sometimes open, sometimes withdrawn emotionally. You communicate nonverbally and appreciate a person who can pick up subtle cues and hints, rather than having to make everything explicit.

Chapter 2: The Inner You: Your Real Motivation

Sun in Scorpio:

Quiet, emotionally complex and instinctively private, you are not a person who is easy to understand. Extremely sensitive, though not inclined to show it, you allow only a special few into your inner world. Like a wary animal, you may be cautious and mistrustful of new people until you 'sniff them out'. You are very instinctive and intuitive, having a strong, immediate gut reaction to people. But you can't always articulate it because your feelings and perceptions go deeper than words.

Born with a powerful need for deep emotional involvement, you tend to form very intense love bonds and attachments, and can become jealous of anyone that appears to threaten that bond. Once committed to someone, you are wholeheartedly devoted, and expect complete loyalty in return. You connect at a very deep level, and therefore separating would be extremely painful. Once wounded, rather than turning the other cheek, there's a tendency to wish to retaliate if at all possible. There's an inclination to harbor grievances and resentments, until you've done the inner work of forgiveness.

Whatever you pursue, it is done with passion and fervor: Either you are 100% involved in something or it doesn't exist for you at all. A strong will can make you tenacious in pursuing your objectives. Fierce pride, courage, and emotional strength are evident in abundance. Though sometimes it would benefit you to remain more emotionally detached and objective.

You love a mystery, and are naturally attracted to the hidden undercurrents of human life. Never taking things at face value, you instinctively probe beneath the surface of people and situations to discover what is really going on.

Sun in 4th house:

A somewhat private person, you may sometimes wish to withdraw from very public and impersonal social settings. You may get much of your fulfillment from your inner life. There could also be the feeling that you are carrying the torch for those that have gone before you, your ancestors as well as special people in history. This could be a defining impulse in developing your talents.

Sun Sextile Mars:

More than likely, you are able to manifest your will into practical action. You feel entitled to express your intentions, and expect to be validated for your actions. This generally gives you a good energy level, and positive outlook. Your assertive rather than aggressive approach allows you to go after what you want without people thinking you're being selfish.

You probably don't mind competition, either, as your initiative and self-confidence make you succeed more often than not.

Sun Sextile Jupiter:

You have big aspirations, and the good fortune to achieve them, because your inner harmony and confidence attract success and benefits to you in an almost magical way. Your optimism and cheerful generosity also win you allies and opportunities to make progress in life.

Chapter 3: Mental Interests and Abilities

Mercury in Scorpio:

You have a probing mind and the courage to study the unseen underpinnings of things. There is great mental concentration and the ability to become completely immersed in your work. You seem to know things at an instinctive, nonverbal level and may prefer learning through direct experience or apprenticeship rather than vicariously via books.

An innate mechanical ability means you could become adept at sculpture, pottery, carpentry, or anything that involves doing and making things manually. Biology (and related fields such as medicine) could appropriately use your skills as well.

Mercury in 4th house:

You have an introspective turn of mind and might enjoy keeping a journal or a record of your dreams and personal experiences, or learning about psychology, history, and the emotional foundations of your life. You can be studious, even something of a bookworm.

Chapter 4: Emotions: Moods, Feelings, Romance

Moon in Leo:

Warm, loving, and generous in your affections, you inspire tremendous devotion and loyalty in your loved ones. This is good, since you would never settle for anything less! You want to be adored like the 'royalty' that you feel you are, and it is difficult for anyone to resist the warmth and attention you lavish on them. You take pride in your nurturing qualities, but also have a need to be recognized and appreciated. The way to really hurt your feelings is to ignore you. Sincere and genuine, you have a strong sense of personal integrity, and try not to engage in emotional games or dishonesty.

Moon in 2nd house:

You are aware, more than most, that wealth and security fluctuate throughout life, and that your best hope is to cultivate a stable inner life, to become a magnet for good things, rather than chasing after them. Your inner resources, including family bonds, are the best hedge against the unpredictable tides of life. Family heirlooms also give you a sense of security and continuity with the past.

You can be very generous with your money and things, when you are feeling positive. But after impulsive times, you may realize that you have been rash in giving away too much.

Moon Conjunct Jupiter:

You are tolerant and forgiving, always ready to overlook mistakes and give others a second chance. You expect the best from people and draw it out of them, and you enjoy making others comfortable and happy. Because of your emotional generosity, your life is rich with friends, and often financial blessings as well.

Moon Square Neptune:

You are something of a dreamer, attracted to the inner, mystical side of life, and make little distinction between the real and the numinous.

You do not enjoy confrontation, and may be evasive when problems in your personal life arise, escaping into your imagination in order to avoid dealing with them directly. There's a tendency to be rather naive and trusting of people, especially if your sympathy has been aroused.

You may have had experiences when young that gave you the feeling that no one was there to protect and nurture you, when you needed it. But it is not too late to trust those who want to love you, and allow them to be there for you. Today, your active compassion for the less fortunate gives you a way to experience caring, vicariously.

You can also learn to be comfortable with spiritual longing, as it is an inevitable fact of human life. Very sensitive to music, you can use it to bring yourself into emotional balance and harmony.

Venus in Virgo:

You are quietly devoted and faithful to your loved ones, willing to attend to the spectrum of their nutritional and health needs. You are more comfortable demonstrating your love for others by caring about their practical needs, than expressing too much sentiment or emotion. You also tend to underestimate your attractiveness and lovability and doubt your own worthiness to receive love and appreciation.

Venus in 3rd house:

Harmonious surroundings may be quite important to you, as you have an innate sense of style, design, and form. Socially, also, good form and politeness matter to you, and you instinctively avoid crudeness and dissonance. You are more inclined to behave lovingly toward your siblings and relatives than most.

You may enjoy reading or discussions about love, relationships, art and the beautiful side of life.

Venus Conjunct Pluto:

You are devoted to your loved ones even in the most trying times: You don't seem to mind sharing in the intensity of their situation. Such love can regenerate their faith, and transform their opinion of you.

Deep, compelling feelings that seem irresistible and often irrational make you passionate and intense. You are always changed in a deep, fundamental way by your relationships, though this may come about through painful and difficult confrontations or separations. When you really care about something, you can also be something of a fanatic about it.

Chapter 5: Drive and Ambition: How You Achieve Your Goals

Mars in Capricorn:

Serious about your ambitions, you can be disciplined, dedicated, and tenacious in pursuing your objectives. Your drive and energy are directed toward practical accomplishment and achieving concrete results. With a trust in your own capability, you seek situations where you can be the person who is in charge. Because you maintain a high standard for your life, you don't hesitate to try and straighten others out too!

There's an ability to be hard-working, forgoing immediate comfort in order to achieve long-range goals. Responsible and conscientious about doing a thorough job, you are willing to regulate your impulses by a 'code of conduct' like the Ten Commandments.

Naturally realistic and pragmatic, you can be an excellent strategist, attaining success by formulating a conservative and workable plan and following through with it. When it comes to attaining your goals, you depend on your own efforts and perseverance rather than just expecting good fortune. There is a natural shrewdness and instinct for business, or organizational management.

Mars in 6th house:

You expect to work hard for anything you accomplish, and have little patience for people who don't pull their own weight. Work is a passion for you, and at times, you may push yourself too hard, becoming demanding of the people you work with too. Trouble with do-workers can be resolved if you make an effort to be more tolerant of those who are not as careful or competent as you.

Mars in the 6th house, of 'daily routine', can indicate work with metal, machinery, or any work requiring precision, in which you are 'cutting through the wilderness', or 'breaking new ground' with your efforts. You will be an asset to any employer, as long as they allow you to direct your abundant energy in your own way.

Mars Square Saturn:

You work hard and patiently to achieve your objectives, persevering and continuing on in spite of difficulties and discouragement. Concentrating on a single, clearly defined goal, you are able to accomplish much. But you may sometimes feel that the way is long and arduous, and that it's all on your shoulders. Your strength is your ability to confront harsh conditions and persevere by sheer grit and endurance.

Early life experiences may have taught you to hold yourself back, to doubt your own power and ability, believing that you will meet with great resistance when you try to assert yourself or take initiative. Anger and frustration can become issues when you try to work with other people, or depend too much on others for support. So you may find that you prefer working in solitude. Capable of great self-control and self-denial, you can be a hard task master, and may tend to expect far too much of yourself.

Mars Trine Jupiter:

You are motivated by high beliefs, and don't hesitate to put them into action. Your efforts are an inspiration to others, demonstrating that each moment contains unlimited possibilities.

Your strong self-confidence and vitality makes you believe you can do just about anything. With an enterprising spirit, a good sense of timing, and the ability to sense what will succeed and what won't, you usually make fortunate decisions in work and business. You enjoy healthy competition and have a rather playful, good-humored attitude toward it. Mostly competing with yourself to see how far you can go or how much you can accomplish, you like to keep stretching your limits.

Chapter 6: Other Influences

Jupiter in Virgo:

Your ability to think things through clearly, and to analyze and understand the smallest details of any plan, is highly developed. You have a modest nature and are more concerned with the success of your work than with personal aggrandizement. You enjoy working and are happiest when you are being productive and using your time efficiently.

They say "the devil is in the details", but with this placement, you find "god" in the details; that is to say, you can experience joy from the subtle cues of nature, the tiny wild flower, the lacy patterns of moss on a rock. There is also an ability to share such subtle insights, which can be an inspiration to others.

Jupiter in 2nd house:

Material well-being, and prosperity are very important to you, and you would never knowingly choose a profession that didn't offer you opportunity for growth (financial and otherwise).

Whatever you do with your money, you tend to do in a big way - making it... or spending it! You are naturally drawn to elegant, high quality possessions.

Generous and idealistic in your approach to money, rather than holding on to it, you want to enjoy it and use it to enrich people's lives. You have the faith that you can always multiply your assets, no matter how few, and create abundance and prosperity for yourself and others.

Saturn in Aries:

You have difficulty asserting your will and desires directly and openly. You also may suppress your anger and aggressiveness. Developing self-confidence, courage, and faith in yourself are important tasks for you.

Saturn in 9th house:

Growing up, you got the idea that there is only one set of 'legitimate' beliefs. So there may be a resistance to new insights and perspectives. You require that any idea be thoroughly and systematically examined. While at the same time, you may tenaciously adhere to your own established philosophical beliefs and opinions.

Your serious outlook on life may have come from the notion that God will punish you if you do not watch your step! This might give you a bad taste for religion in general, feeling that it is too restrictive and full of rules. As you mature, you will work to systematize your own beliefs, so that they can be consistent and authoritative.

Uranus in Virgo:

You are part of a 7 year group of people who employ their skills and creativity to bring about a great deal of practical social reforms. There is particular concern for a more enlightened health care system. While your innovations are not necessarily revolutionary, they are usually effective.

Your generation also has a curious mixture of both ethically conservative people, and rebellious, disruptive types. There seems to be little middle ground: people in your age group tend to swing to one extreme or the other. The conservative people strive to reinstate strict moral standards, want to swiftly punish criminal behavior, and strive to highlight the importance of old-fashioned values in our laws and overall life style. On the other hand, the rebellious people of your generation, angry at the established way of doing things, can be seen in the news, acting out in a defiant, crude, and coarse manner.

Uranus in 3rd house:

You grasp new concepts quickly and are open to cutting edge technologies, discoveries, and innovations. Your inventive mind is drawn to unconventional ideas and creative, original approaches to problems. You may often find yourself engaged in trying to communicate these new concepts to your friends and neighbors.

However in a limiting environment, like a classroom, you can easily become bored, as you dislike having to concentrate on one idea or task at a time.

Uranus Conjunct Pluto:

You were also born during a period that lasted approximately 5 years and is characterized by extreme restlessness and an impatient, dynamic attitude towards life. You are committed to radical change, to improve conditions in the world, even if it means a period of upheaval and turmoil. You do not tolerate being restricted, and your age group rebels with force, and sometimes violence, against oppressive situations.

Uranus Sextile Neptune:

You may be quite open to psychic experiences, and get great insight from altered states of consciousness, both your own and others'. You show understanding and forgiveness toward those in need, as you feel that "there but for the grace of God go I". Yours is an idealistic, free-thinking sub-generation who will advance the spiritual progress of humankind as a whole.

Neptune in Scorpio:

You are part of a 14 year group of people that have a capacity for intense psychic sensitivity and imagination. You have the ability to understand others in a very deep way, and thus can help people process grief and loss.

Your generation is drawn to intense forms of escape: Those who avoided drugs were fortunate enough to seek upliftment in powerful music or art or religion. Some may have an affinity for the strange, weird, and unusual, in novels and movies. A sense of the bizarre is reflected in much of the music, art, and fashions of your age group. There is also a deep mystical sense, and an attraction for eastern religions and meditation.

Neptune in 5th house:

Your creative self-expression has a very imaginative quality, giving you a particular affinity for drama, theater, film, and other artistic mediums in which creative fantasy plays a major role.

In love and romance too, you could have some glamorous fantasies that have little to do with reality.

Neptune Sextile Pluto:

The entire sub-generation to which you belong has tremendous opportunities for spiritual rebirth and awakening. You seem to be riding a wave of transformative inspiration, made possible by being selfless and compassionate. You have the chance to contribute to a new destiny of harmony and understanding, by applying a true spirituality to the problem of dogmatic religious divisions.

Pluto in Virgo:

You are part of a 15 year group of people who are driven by the urge to find an ethical standard that applies to everyone. You share a subconscious duty to straighten out all the world's evils, to bring about a world of perfect order. There is a feeling of repulsion to anything ugly, dirty, or grotesque. Oddly enough, there is also often a preoccupation with these very things, that are so distasteful, leaving some with a feeling of hopelessness and despair about the world's condition.

Your age group has taken up the crusade to regenerate peoples' ideas about health, with strong ideas about what is right and wrong for everyone (the evils of tobacco and fat would become your rallying cry). But without some compromise, your categorical coercive responses to complex issues will not be helpful in the long run. If you can figure out how to inspire changed behavior, without institutionalizing the "health police", you will contribute to revolutionary developments in alternative and holistic healing.

Pluto in 3rd house:

You have a probing, penetrating mind and are highly analytical and critical in your thinking. Work that involves research, investigating mysteries or hidden causes, or deep study and analysis might suit you well.

You could also be a convincing speaker, bringing others around to your own point of view by the intensity of your convictions.
