In Vedic Astrology, the use of gemstones to propitiate the planets is part of a larger system called the “Upayes”, which seek in different ways to mitigate the effects of karma found in the astrological chart. A few examples are through prayer and meditation, practicing positive and uplifting affirmations, chanting Vedic mantras, such as “Om Surya” for the Sun, diet, and gemstones. My approach is to suggest that you do your utmost to incorporate multiple remedial measures into your daily lives. You can easily practice an affirmation or a mantra throughout the day during leisure time.

Regarding gemstones, there are many different ways in which they can be recommended, some of them diametrically opposed to other systems, which can lead to confusion!

The way I recommend gemstones is to support the planets that are friendly to the Ascendant, or the Lagna. For example, for an Aries rising, Mars “rules” Aries and the planets friendly to Mars are the Sun, Moon and Jupiter. I regard these four planets as “Candidate” planets and then review the chart to determine which of these planets, if any, is challenged in such a way that the higher qualities of the planet will have difficulty flourishing. The other planets, Saturn, Mercury and Venus are seldom recommended as they are not “friendly” to an Aries ascendant and could possibly bring unwelcome results. In the case where it is difficult to make a determination on a planet, I’ll often instead, recommend a mantra for the individual to practice.

Every planet, house and sign have “higher” qualities and “lower” qualities. There is an interaction between all three of these as the planets are placed in different houses, which in turn are affected by the signs in which they all live. All charts are a mixture of stronger and weaker planets and by their placements, this will determine the tenor of a chart. When planets are strong, the “higher” qualities generally flourish. When the planets are challenged, the “lower qualities” manifest.

The purpose of Vedic remedial measures is to determine which planets are weak and to make recommendations that will strengthen them and help to balance out the planetary energies. A well-functioning chart is one that is balanced with no planet being too strong (too much of a good thing) or too weak.

This information you are receiving on gemstone recommendations from Sirius software is very helpful and gives an excellent overview on which gems can support your chart. It is good to keep in mind that there are a number of factors which can affect and alter this basic information that cannot be known without an in-depth review of your chart. Jack Hauck, with Healing Gems, who wrote this gemstone analysis, offers a more in-depth gemstone recommendation reading that reviews all the myriad elements that can impact the planets and the choices of which gemstones are best for any individual horoscope.

YOUR VEDIC GEMSTONE ANALYSIS

Cancer Lagna:

In your chart, you are a Cancer Ascendant, meaning that the constellation of Cancer was rising on the horizon at the moment of your birth. The Ascendant is also known as the 1st house of the natal or birth chart. The 1st House is very important as it is a strong indicator of how well or how challenged you will be in your life. The 1st House signifies your self-esteem, confidence, general disposition, personal appearance, how the world sees you and your disposition and temperament. It is perhaps the most personal of all the houses. It is best to have a strong Ascendant as it gives you a good head start in life. With a challenged Ascendant, on the other hand, you must work harder to succeed in many areas of your life.

For a Cancer Ascendant some of your higher qualities include a comforting and nurturing nature similar to that of a mother's love. Having a sensitive nature, you are in touch with your emotions. Being selfless, you think of others first in a compassionate way. You can be intuitive, even psychic. You are very much attracted to creating a comforting and supporting home. Some of your lower qualities may include being overly emotional where your feelings rule your decisions – developing some reason and practicality is a real antidote to such an unbalanced nature. When you don't get what you want you may turn to passive-aggressive behavior. Having a controlling nature can also be one of the downside attributes of this sign.

Regarding gemstones, we need to look at the strength and weaknesses of the planets that are "friendly" to Cancer. These are the Sun, Moon, Mars and Jupiter. Let's take a look at these one by one.

Sun

The Sun represents the self, the soul, the ego. Your sense of self-esteem is largely determined by the strength of the Sun. It is how you project ourselves outward to the world. It is confidence, vitality and ambition. It is a general indicator of your health. It also represents power and success and is a strong indicator of your chosen career path in life which can include leadership roles in politics and government. You could have a career as a judge or in an administrative role. A strong Sun gives you the impetus to succeed in life. The relationship with your father is favorable and he leads a successful life. A weak Sun can lead to arrogance, poor self-esteem and pessimism.

Moon

The Moon is considered the most personal of all the planets. It truly represents your emotional life. The strength of the Moon will have a major impact on your happiness. While your happiness is somewhat impacted by your outer circumstances, the happiness from the Moon is largely your inner disposition that is not changed much by what you go through in life. Someone who suffers from moodiness or depression will not be uplifted much by material changes for the better.

The Moon also represents your mother and your relationship with her. A strong Moon manifests as love and tenderness, enthusiasm, and an emotional stability, able to rise above challenges. You have a loving and beneficial relationship with your mother who may be a success and positive person in her own right. If your Moon is weak, or challenged, it can manifest as emotional instability such as moodiness, even depression, a poor relationship with your mother, who may lead a difficult life. Career paths include chemistry, jobs involving water, dairy products and pharmacy.

Mars

Mars is a fiery planet that gives energy and vitality to your life. Mars stands out for its leadership potential. It strongly determines how harmonious or challenged your relationships will be, especially that of your marriage. The higher qualities of Mars include an assertive nature that enables you to strive for success in life in a harmonious way. You have a strongly passionate nature that needs to be positively directed in your relationships and wholesome activities. Other higher qualities you can experience include courage, bravery, the muscles and weapons. Career paths include the engineering fields, the military and police work.

While a leadership nature comes naturally, the predominant lower quality of Mars is an aggressive, argumentative and combative nature. This can cause untold conflicts with others, both with your family, friends, your spouse and subordinates. An overly strong passionate nature can cause you to emphasize physical expression and miss the emotional benefits of your intimate relationships. Other challenging aspects of Mars are accidents, headaches, bleeding, blood diseases and issues with childbirth.

Jupiter

Jupiter is considered the “Great Benefic” in Vedic Astrology. It is the planet of higher knowledge, wisdom, mentors, the Guru, spiritual teachings, expansion, justice, luck, prosperity and children. Your astrological chart is indeed blessed when Jupiter is strong and well placed as it can affect so many areas of your chart in a beneficial way. When Jupiter is weak, however, you can create pessimism, expenses, debts, difficulty with children, childbirth, a lack of vitality and liver issues. Career paths can be in teaching, management, the law, politics and religious teachers.

Lagna is Cancer and Sun is in Libra in 4th House

The Sun in Libra in the 4th House of the Home is a very challenging placement as it is in its sign of weakness, meaning that the higher qualities of the Sun and the 4th House will have difficulty flourishing.

There can be difficulties with your father as well as with your mother. Of concern is a lack of emotional stability - your personality and emotional well-being suffer. There is little comfort from fixed assets such as your cars and homes – there can be many moves or maintenance problems. Your education involve multiple efforts at different times.

Vedic remedial measures are highly recommended! A gemstone for the Sun, a Ruby of 1.5-3 carats, a Red Spinel of 2.5-4 carats or a Red Garnet of 4-6 carats may be worn. You can also chant a mantra, “Om Surya”, as a way to propitiate the energies of the Sun.

Lagna is Cancer and Moon is in 2nd House and Moon is waning

The Moon is considered, next to the Ascendant, the most important element of the natal chart. The Moon represents your emotional health and the strength of the Moon, either waxing or waning can be an important determinant of your mental state. A waxing Moon means that it is moving away from the Sun towards its greatest strength when it is full. This enables the higher qualities of the Moon to flourish. A waning Moon means that it is moving away from its full Moon status towards the Sun, becoming weaker and weaker the closer it gets to the Sun. This waning influence inhibits the Moon’s higher qualities from manifesting.

While the Moon is waning in Leo in the 2nd House of Income, it is still a good placement and the higher qualities of the Moon and the 2nd House should flourish – not as well as a waxing Moon, but still favorable. Your emotional health is strong. You are charismatic and well spoken. You have a good reputation and there is respect from others. The relationship with your mother is harmonious as well as with your family.

Vedic remedial measures are recommended. A Pearl of at least 5 carats (9-10mm) may be worn to help balance your emotional life. You can also chant a mantra, “Om Chandra”, as a means to propitiate the energies of this most important planet.

Lagna is Cancer and Mars is in Sagittarius in 6th House

Mars in Sagittarius in the 6th House of Enemies has both its benefits and challenges, meaning the higher qualities of Mars and the 6th House are limited in their ability to flourish.

Creating and maintaining your good health is important, but there can be nagging issues, as this is the House of short-term diseases. You have a strong interest and drive to be of service to others. You should be a good match for enemies and competitors - you may not even realize that you have anyone working against you.

Vedic remedial measures to propitiate the planetary energies are recommended. A gemstone for Mars, a Red Coral of at least 5 carats may be worn. You can also practice a mantra such as “Om Kuja”, or “Om Mangala”.

Lagna is Cancer and Jupiter is in Leo in 2nd House

Jupiter in Leo in the 2nd House of Income is an excellent placement for earning money and the higher qualities of Jupiter and the 2nd House should flourish. Your voice and words are calming and wise. Your family life is comforting. Eating a healthy diet comes naturally. All in all, this is a great placement that benefits your whole chart.

No Vedic remedial measures are recommended unless Jupiter is afflicted by malefic aspects.
